Two women escape with gold chain after high drama

Mysuru, May 14 (MTY&BCT)- An elderly woman was relieved of her mangalsutra worth about Rs. 2 lakh by two women who managed to con her this morning after accusing her of theft. Under the guise of taking her to the Police Station, the two women first took the elderly lady in an auto and later in a car and removed the gold chain after sprinkling some powder to make the victim lose her senses.

Bhagyamma

The incident that occurred in a crowded area of Nanjumalige has shocked the residents and the Police have launched a manhunt to arrest the criminals.

The victim has been identified as 62-year-old Bhagyamma, wife of Ganesh, a resident of Medarkeri near Nanjumalige and she lost her 70-gram mangalsutra. In her statement to the Police, Bhagyamma said that she had purchased the gold chain in December 2016.

Bhagyamma told the Police that she followed a daily routine of getting out of the house at 8 am and head towards Nanjumalige to buy vegetables and milk. This morning too she went on a stroll when a well-dressed woman approached her near Nanjumalige. "She placed her hands on my shoulders and enquired about my health. I thought that she was known to me and I would have forgotten her owing to my age. We exchanged courtesies and walked together for some distance," Bhagyamma told the Police.

After walking a few steps, another well-dressed woman, from the opposite direction, approached Bhagyamma and the woman who was walking by her side claimed that she had lost her purse. "The other woman accused me of stealing the purse. Hearing the accusations, the woman who was walking by my side removed her mangalsutra and made a promise that she had not stolen the purse," Bhagyamma stated. The two women then told Bhagyamma to remove her mangalsutra likewise and make the promise.

When Bhagyamma refused to remove her chain, the women told her that in that case they need to go to the Police Station to recover the purse. Bhagyamma told the Police that both the women were behaving aggressively. Trusting their words, Bhagyamma agreed to this and got into an autorickshaw and asked the driver to head towards Lakshmipuram Police Station.

As the autorickshaw neared Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha, the two women got down from the rickshaw and got into an Indica car with registration number "KA-53" that was parked by the side of the road. Bhagyamma told the Police that inside the car, one of the women sprinkled some powder on her face and touched her forehead. "I lost my senses and it took some time for me to regain composure. I was then dropped at some distance from my house and the women told me that they had tied my mangalsutra to my saree pallu. I realised later that the women had taken away my expensive mangalsutra and had instead tied some stones to my saree," Bhagyamma stated in her complaint.

Police enquiring Bhagyamma at her house this morning.

A shell-shocked Bhagyamma returned to her house at around 10 am and narrated the incident to her family members who alerted the Police. Suspecting the involvement of an organised gang, the Police are on the lookout for the Indica car and the autorickshaw. They are also examining CCTV footages to trace the vehicles. Police said that somebody who knew Bhagyamma's routine would have committed the crime.

Mysuru, May 14 (MTY, RS & BCT)- Two youths were killed in Mysuru in separate accidents last night. While a youth from Madikeri was killed on the spot near Manasagangothri, another youth who had come on a sight-seeing trip with his friends from Bengaluru was killed in a car accident on Nanjangud Road.

In the first incident that occurred at around 11.30 pm, Rathnakar alias Rathan was killed when he rammed his bike against a bus shelter and a compound wall near Sri Jayachamarajendra College of Engineering (SJCE). 26-year-old Rathnakar was working as a proof-reader at a local newspaper in Madikeri. He had come to Mysuru on his swanky Bajaj Pulsar bike (KA-12-R-1097) last night to meet his friend Rakshit.

Rakshit stayed at a room in T.K. Layout and Rathnakar used to come from Madikeri to meet him often. According to the Police, yesterday at around 10.30 pm, Rathnakar took his bike and headed out to consume some alcohol. He then proceeded towards Manasagangothri campus where he saw an approaching Garuda Police patrol vehicle from the opposite direction. Speeding under the influence of alcohol, Rathnakar lost control over his vehicle and first rammed against a bus shelter and then hit the SJCE compound wall.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When I got to Italy on a recent trip I thought the pilot of the plane had done a U-turn mid-flight and brought us back to India. Because everywhere I looked all I could see were Indians, more Indians, and still more Indians, and nary an Italian in sight. And it's not just Italy. Anywhere you go – from Australia to Zimbabwe, and all points in between – you'll find the place to be overflowing with Indians.

At first I used to wonder as to why so many Indians were living everywhere but in India. Why had Indians gone so global? In Italy, when I saw all those Indians running small grocery shops, and acting as waiters in restaurants, and selling wilted flowers and souvenirs to tourists, the answer came to me.

The global Indian is the creation of our successive sarkars, who found an ingenious way of solving the huge – and growing ever huger – problem of over-population in our country. When family planning schemes like 'Hum doh, hamare doh' came a cropper, and the production of people far outpaced the production of jobs to give to all of them, the sarkar was in a quandary. Then it hit upon the perfect solution.

If our country couldn't provide jobs for our people, let's encourage our people to go off to other countries which could provide them jobs. The sarkar created an elaborate obstacle course – made up with hurdles called Five Year Plans, and the Licence Raj, all tied together with red tape – which ensured that there were fewer and fewer jobs, which in turn further motivated Indians to go elsewhere to find jobs.

Long before other countries began to outsource their business processes (BPOs), India made outsourcing of its people into a business process. — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

"The green heart of Bogota"

Bogotá: Edificio Santalaia, a plant-covered building in the middle of Bogota, Colombia, is considered one of the most amazing urban gardens ever created. With over 33,000 Sq. ft of plants covering the building's 11 stories (9 above ground and 2 underground), this is the world's largest vertical garden.

The result of a collaboration between Spanish green designers Paisajismo Urbano and Colombian company Groncol, this stunning vertical garden was completed in December 2015, Today, it is often referred to as "the green heart of Bogota," and acts both as an icon of sustainability, as well as a reminder of the important role that plants play in our daily lives. The world's largest vertical garden consists of 115,000 plants of 10 species and 5 different families, selected by Ignacio Solano, head of Paisajismo Urbano, and his team, during an expedition into Colombia's Chocó rainforest.

Fisherman Call

Tokyo: Waking up in the morning is tough, luckily, snoozers in Japan now have a better alternative – an energy-inducing phone call from a fisherman at sea.

Fisherman Japan, an organization whose main purpose is to make fishing cool again, recently launched an interesting wake-up call service aimed at people who have trouble waking up in the morning. Called Fisherman Call, the service literally has Japanese fishermen from the Sanriku region – one of the world's top three fishing grounds – call registered users at a specified time to wake them up and strike up a short conversation to boost their energy level for the entire day. Sounds awesome!

Fisherman Call is a free service. All you have to do is register online and provide your name, phone number and the time you would like to be called by the fisherman. You can even select a specific fisherman from several profiles listed online. In case you're wondering, yes, Fisherman Call is a real service, but it's part of a PR campaign that aims to connect Japanese youth with the dwindling workforce of one of the oldest professions in the country.

VOICE OF THE READER

Dangerous triple riding!

Sir,

It was very unfortunate to read the news of two youth getting killed and another seriously injured in a road accident while triple riding without helmets (SOM dated May 11).

Quite recently, in a similar case of triple riding, three people died on the spot in Kollegal, when their bike was hit by a KSRTC bus. According to Section 128 (1), Motor Vehicle Act R/W Sec 177 MV Act, it is an offense and it attracts a fine, if caught.

Fine is secondary when the life itself is in question. Riders are not taking the issue of driving triple/quadruple or more, seriously even after seeing such news regularly in the newspapers. All this is done to save a few tens or hundreds of rupees.

It is very common to see triple riding even in the city centre. Triple riding is not limited to male alone. Even women riding triples (all women) is very commonly seen in the city. Not only youth, even elderly people are also going triples on two-wheelers.

As accidents will not occur informing you before hand to take precautions, people should avoid going triples/ quadruples or more on two-wheelers, as balancing the vehicle will become very difficult when it is overloaded.

KPCC President's post: 3 names suggested to High Command

K.C. Venugopal

M.B. Patil

S.R. Patil

D.K. Shivakumar

Bengaluru, May 14- All India Congress Committee (AICC) General Secretary K.C. Venugopal has sent a list of names to the Congress High Command for the post of Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) President.

According to party sources, Venugopal, who met Rahul Gandhi here on May 12, has suggested the names of Water Resources Minister M.B. Patil, former Minister S.R. Patil and Energy Minister D.K. Shivakumar for the KPCC President's post.

It may be recalled here that after holding a series of talks with the party leaders in Bengaluru from May 9, Venugopal had promised a complete organisational revamp by May end.

Venugopal and AICC secretaries Manickam Tagore, P.C. Vishnunath, Madhu Goud Yaskhi and Sake Sailajanath camped in Bengaluru for three days and interacted with leaders and Legislators seeking their opinion on several issues.

On the reports that Congress leader in the Lok Sabha, M. Mallikarjun Kharge will be made the KPCC President, party sources ruled out the possibility. Since the High Command has so far not decided whether to relieve him of the current responsibility of leader of the party in the Lok Sabha, his name is not in consideration for the State unit President, said sources.

Venugopal is also learnt to have brought to the High Command's notice that there is lack of co-ordination between incumbent KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwara and Chief Minister Siddharamaiah.

Venugopal also said that the Government and the party were not concurring on many issues and the old Congress leaders felt alienated, sources said.

Deve Gowda worried over internal rift in Mysuru JD(S)

Bengaluru, May 14- JD(S) supremo and former PM H.D. Deve Gowda (in pic) seems to be worried over differences in Mysuru District unit in the party.

The rift in the Mysuru unit has come to the open with Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda and a few other leaders absenting from a meeting of party Legislators and leaders held in Bengaluru recently.

H.D. Deve Gowda is said to be specially worried over the absence of G.T. Devegowda, who has maintained good contact with grass-root level workers.

G.T. Devegowda who is said to be upset over recent developments in the JD(S), has resorted to maintaining silence.

G.T. Devegowda, who is said to have made a lot of groundwork in Hunsur Assembly segment over the past couple of years with an eye on contesting the polls, is learnt to be deeply upset over keeping him out of the party's poll preparations.

Deeply disappointed over the developments that took place at the party's both-level meeting in the city recently in which Hunsur workers were reportedly rebuked, G.T. Devegowda is also said to be not happy with State JD(S) Chief H.D. Kumaraswamy for not attempting to pacify the agitated party workers at the meet.

'Arrogance, maladministration and scams are highlights of Siddharamaiah Government'

Bengaluru, May 14 (KMS&DM)- Alleging that arrogance, apathy, maladministration and scams were the highlights of Siddharamaiah Government's four years in power, Union Minister Ananth Kumar (in pic) has sarcastically said that taking Karnataka to the number one spot in corruption was the main achievement of the Congress Government.

Addressing Bengaluru City BJP Executive meet at the party office in Malleswaram here yesterday, Ananth Kumar said that Siddharamaiah Government's maladministration was focussed on Bengaluru BBMP.

Pointing out that a recent survey carried out by an NGO had rated Karnataka as the most corrupt State, the Union Minister claimed that FDI in the State was hit by lack of infrastructure.

Blaming the State Government for Bengaluru slipping to 210th position in Swachh Bharat rankings, he said that the rise in crimes had made Bengalureans lose their sleep. Accusing the Siddharamaiah Government of handing over Thippagondanahalli lake area to land mafia, he called upon the people representatives to undertake a campaign for saving Thippagondanahalli and Arkavathi water bodies.

Alleging that the State Government was not co-operating with the Centre on Sub-urban Railway Network in Bengaluru, Ananth Kumar termed the indiscriminate felling down of trees in Bengaluru as on eco-disaster.

Union Minister D.V. Sadananda Gowda, who also addressed the meet, called upon the party workers not to relax as it was the election year. Lashing out at Siddharamaiah's Govt. for non-performance, he exhorted the workers to work towards achieving 'Mission-28' for Bengaluru and 'Mission-150' for Karnataka.

City BJP Executive Meet held

V. Sreenivasa Prasad lashes out at JD(S) for being cahoots with Congress

Mysuru, May 14 (MTY&DM)- A day-long city BJP Executive Meet was held at Rajendra Kalyana Mantap on Ramanuja Road here yesterday. Speaking after inaugurating the meet, State BJP Vice-President and former Minister V. Sreenivasa Prasad (in pic) lashed out at the JD(S) for being cahoots with the Congress by not fielding its candidates for the Nanjangud and Gundlupet by-polls held last month.

Hitting out at the JD(S) and its leaders H.D. Deve Gowda and H.D. Kumaraswamy, Prasad ridiculed them for their inconsistent stand, which actually had helped the Congress. Questioning why the JD(S) did not field its candidate for the Nanjangud by-polls, when the party had received more than 40,000 votes in the 2013 polls, he said that while the JD(S) had taken the support of BJP for attaining power in Mysuru Taluk Panchayat (TP), Zilla Panchayat (ZP) and MCC, it (JD-S) had joined hands with the Congress in BBMP, which itself explains the opportunistic politics of the JD(S).

Maintaining that the JD(S) will never come to power on its own in the State, Prasad said that the people would not trust the JD(S) as it had changed its stand frequently on many occasions, only for the sake of power.

Lashing out at Chief Minister Siddharamaiah for his arrogance, Prasad asserted that senior Congress leader A.H. Vishwanath too was now endorsing the statements made by him (Prasad) when he quit his Assembly seat and the Congress last year.

Accusing the Congress of spending money like water during Nanjangud by-polls, the BJP Vice-President exhorted the party workers to ensure victory in at least nine out of the 12 Assembly segments coming under Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts.

Noting that K.R. and Chamaraja Assembly segments in the city, now held by the Congress, were in fact BJP strong holds, Prasad said that the division of votes in these two constituencies helped the Congress candidates win in the 2013 Assembly polls.

Asking the workers to shun their differences, Prasad highlighted the need for maintaining unity in the party for achieving Mission-150 in the 2018 Assembly-polls.

City BJP President Dr. B.H. Manjunath, Corporator Nandeesh Preetham, leaders Thontadarya, Phanish, L. Nagendra and others were present.

Petrol pumps not to shut shop on Sundays for now

Bengaluru, May 14- All petrol pumps in eight States across the country which had announced a weekly 'holiday' from May 14 (today) and work on a single shift from May 15, called off their proposed agitation late yesterday evening, an official statement said in Mumbai.

The Consortium of Indian Petroleum Dealers (CIPD) was planning to launch the 'Cost Cutting Module' in Maharashtra, Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Haryana, citing low margins.

On April 10, the CIPD, which claims to have 25,000 members, asked its members to shut shop on Sundays starting May 14, in line with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision to reduce fuel consumption.

"We have been called by the Government for a meeting in this regard on May 17 in Mumbai. Hence we have asked our retail outlets to stay open on Sunday," A.D. Sathyanarayan, President, CIPD, said. The Association cited a Mann Ki Baat radio address, in which Modi said fuel consumption is a major area where people can contribute to "new India," as a trigger for its decision.

He reiterated that the petrol pumps are currently operating on extremely low margins, selling high-tech unleaded petrol/diesel products in which the evaporation rate is very high leading to huge losses and other outstanding issues. Besides there are concerns like paying a certain amount of minimum salary to staffers at each petrol pump, which has become unaffordable owing to the low operating margins, he said.

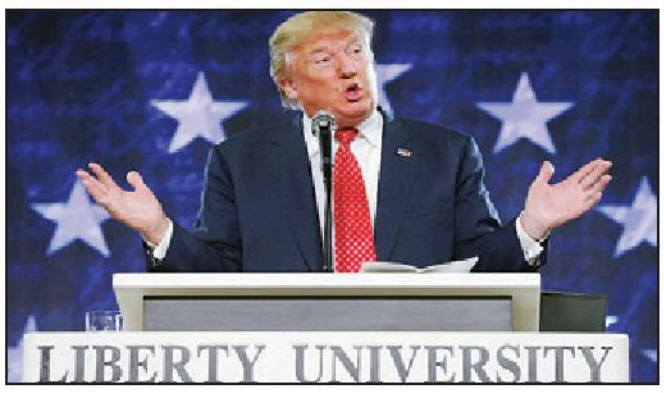
Some parallel to Trump's America and Modi's India

Narendra Modi



Donald Trump

I was watching live US President Donald Trump's Commencement Speech at Liberty University yesterday (Saturday). Like in our Universities, specially in Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), Delhi, there was a division among students on the question of inviting Trump. After all Trump had been the convocation speaker at the Christian University in 2012 and again before the election in 2016. So why again?

The problem for Trump was that America (US) is a Secular country, therefore, how can he as the President associate himself with an evangelical University? Good question. But political one like in India.

By inference Trump considered himself, looking at the critics, as an "outsider" at the White House as a President drawing a parallel to the Liberty University's evangelical character which too is considered by the "secularists" as an "outsider". Just as in India during the long, long years of Congress rule, appeasing the minorities no end, when others of the majority were considered "outsiders". In fact a friend told me that for long, in India the minority has been behaving and asserting itself as a majority, which is in consonance with the two neighbouring countries that took birth following India's division on the basis of religion.

And in the speech Donald Trump paid compliments to his critics, though in reality it was nuanced condemnation of his critics. "No one has ever achieved anything significant without a chorus of critics explaining why it can't be done. Nothing is easier or more pathetic than being a critic. There are people who can't get the job done," Trump said. By inference, he says these are the eternal critics.

Trump, continues, "... but the future belongs to the dreamers, not the critics, the people who follow their heart no matter what the critics say..."

The tone and tenor of Donald Trump's speech seemed to say to the world, 'look America is a Christian country and because of the goodness of Christian religion we have declared ourselves a Secular country to embrace our brothers belonging to the minority.' I figure the BJP too seems to speak the same language as Trump.

He continued saying that America was founded "with deep faith, big dreams and humble beginnings. Nobody is going to stop you from practicing your faith or preaching what is in your heart". Nobody in the University ever preached hatred or violence for the reason of assumed victimhood as we see today in certain parts of the world. It is not surprising, therefore, the President of the Liberty University Jerry Falwell Jr. openly declared in his address, "that Trump's Presidency has benefited the Christian community in the US". So Donald Trump has become the defender of Christian faith in US. Just as the King of England Henry VIII, who was given the title "Defender of faith" by the Pope for writing a pamphlet against protestants. Can we draw a parallel here and say that Prime Minister Narendra Modi is the defender of Hindu faith?

Another significant statement of Trump which, I guess, has significant allusion to our pseudo intellectuals of the JNU kind and left of centre thinkers is: "In my short time in Washington, I have seen first hand how the system is broken. A small group of failed voices, who think they know everything and understand everyone, wants to tell everybody else how to live and what to do and how to think. But you are not going to let these failed voices tell you what you should believe". This when you know that you are right.

"In America we don't worship government, we worship God", said Trump. Then he spoke of how the President of America takes oath in the name of God, not in the name of the Constitution. A very important point.

All said and done man seems to be the highly manipulative creature God has created. In our country too we have seen some segments of our people bragging often times their allegiance to our Constitution demanding "abide by the Constitution" whenever it suits their purpose. Similarly they will assert their faith and belief in their Holy book whenever it helps them to achieve their objective. At present, take the case of the question of Talaq, a Muslim practice, of which our Supreme Court is seized of. Or take the example of Hindu cow vigilantes.

Though India was divided on the basis of religion between Muslims and non-Muslims, while India remained a republic with its inherent character of secularism, the other part, Pakistan though remained secular in the beginning under its founder Muhammad Ali Jinnah, soon after he was gone it has become a Muslim theocratic country with the pernicious blasphemy law in place which hangs over the heads of the minorities in Pakistan like the Damocles sword. Let it be.

Jai Hind.

Two youths killed

The impact of the accident was such that the pillar supporting the bus shelter was shattered and the wall bore deep scratches. He died on the spot though some passers-by shifted him to a hospital. Rathnakar hailed from Kadagadalu village in Madikeri and was married one-and-a-half years ago. He was not wearing a helmet.

In another incident, 26-year-old Santhosh was killed on-the-spot last night when the car in which he was travelling with his friends fell into a deep ditch near Golur village on the Nanjangud Road.

According to the Police, Santhosh had come with his friends in a Toyota Etios car (KA-51-B-7433) from Bengaluru for sight-seeing and had been to Male Mahadeshwara Hills and arrived at Nanjangud yesterday night. They had plans to visit Mysuru before heading back to Bengaluru. As their vehicle neared Golur village, Raju, who was on the wheels, lost control over the vehicle and skidded and fell into a ditch. Santhosh who was sitting on the front seat was killed on the spot. His friend Ambareesh, who sustained severe head injuries, has been shifted to K.R. Hospital in Mysuru.

Nanjangud Police have registered a case.

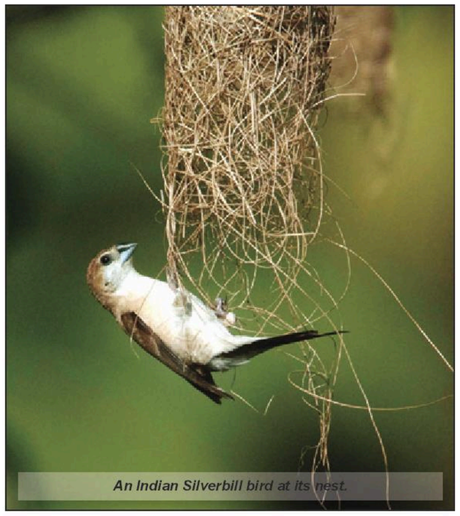
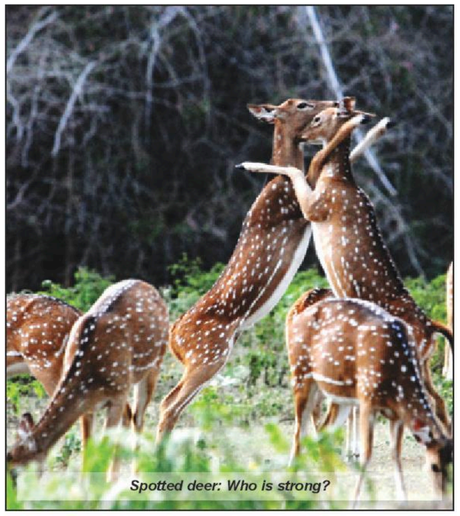
Barren Bandipur springs to life again

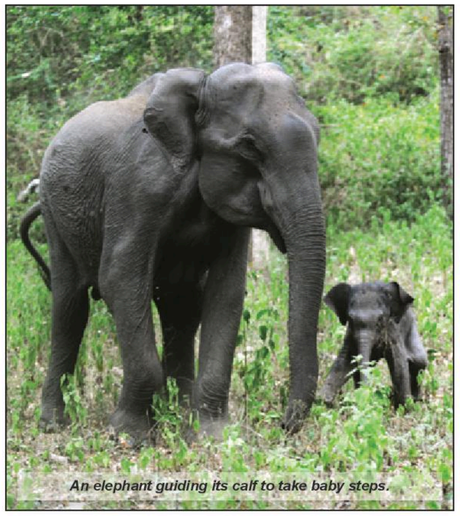


An Indian Silverbill bird at its nest.



Spotted deer: Who is strong?

A peacock in all its splendour



An elephant guiding its calf to take baby steps.

An Indian Roller enters its nest.

The barren land, water holes going dry, trees shedding leaves, denizens in search of water and food and staring at a bleak future were a common sight at the Bandipur National Park since the last two years. The rain gods had shied away and drought had set in at this National Park that always attracts hordes of tourists.

However, the recent rainfall during April has rejuvenated the forest and the animal kingdom. Elephants and other herbivores, which fed on dry leaves and branches, are now feeding on greens and there is a spring in their steps. As the sun sets, the sounds made by wild animals and the chirping of birds are pleasant to hear. In fact, the sight of deer herd taking rest right in front of the guest rooms is one thing that people do not want to miss early in the morning.

Established in the year 1974, the Bandipur Tiger Reserve under the Project Tiger initiative, is located around 80 kms from Mysuru. People travelling towards Ooty do not miss the chance to enjoy the safari, which is organised by the Forest Department on a daily basis.

The Bandipur National Park is spread across 1,02,700 hectres (1, 027 sq kms) out of which 872.24 sq kms have been identified as core area where all activities have been banned. But the forest department conducts safari in selected areas. Bandipur Forest area covers a total of 13 ranges which includes three ranges in Bandipur, four ranges in Gundlupet and six ranges in Hediyala. It is also a home for many endangered wildlife and also provides refuge to other threatened and vulnerable flora and fauna species.

Apart from being a Tiger Reserve, Bandipur supports a good population of species like Indian elephants, gaurs, sloth bears, muggers, Indian rock pythons, four-horned antelopes, black bucks, jackals and dholes, leopards, spotted deer, mouse deer, civet cats, spectacled cobras and others.

It also supports a wide range of plants and tree species including teak, rosewood, sandalwood, Indian-laurel, Indian kino tree, giant clumping bamboo, clumping bamboo and others. There are a number of flowering and fruiting tree species like kadam, Indian gooseberry, crape-myrtle, axlewood, black myrobalan, flame of the forest, golden shower tree and others.

Among most commonly found birds in Bandipur are peafowl, grey jungle fowl and crows. It is believed that the National forest is home for over 200 species of birds such as honey buzzards, red-headed vultures, Indian vultures, flowerpeckers, hoopoes, Indian rollers, brown fish owls, crested serpent eagles, changeable hawk-eagles, bee-eaters and others.

The last couple of years have been tough for the wild animals and birds which suffered severely due to drought. Among the 373 lakes in the national park, 350 lakes had completely gone dry owing to 62 per cent deficiency in rainfall. Forest Department had to install solar-powered bore wells to rejuvenate 12 lakes and provide drinking water to animals.

However, most of the lakes are now filled with sufficient water owing to heavy rainfall for the past 15-20 days.

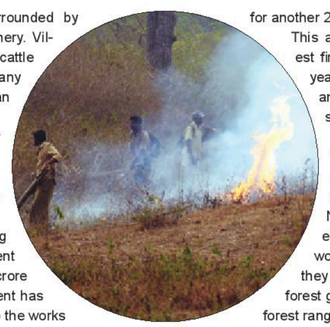
MINIMISING MAN-ANIMAL CONFLICT

The Bandipur National Park is surrounded by around 200 villages along its periphery. Villagers often enter the forest to graze their cattle and collect firewood. There have been many incidents of wild animals entering human settlements in search of food.

Among the wild animals that often enter the villages are elephants, tigers and leopards. The villagers also fear the spread of deadly diseases to the cattle through the wild animals.

In order to prevent elephants entering human settlements, the Forest Department fenced the forest border at a cost of Rs. 1 crore for every kilometre. Till date, the department has fenced around 17 kms and plans to take up the works for another 21 kms in the near future.



This apart, the department also deals with forest fire, which is rampant during summer. This year, the forest officials constructed fireline and viewline in an effort to prevent fire from spreading.

Forest officials said that a few miscreants were involved in setting the forest on fire and added that this year they had to deal with 17 such incidents recorded in Kalkere, N. Begur and Gopalswamy Hill Forest ranges. They also mentioned that miscreants would be brought to book at the earliest as they had information about the culprits. Sadly, a forest guard succumbed to injuries in the Kalkere forest range fighting the inferno.

Prince's death still a mystery

The death of Prince, the most photographed Tiger in Bandipur Tiger Reserve came as a shock to wildlife enthusiasts. The carcass of the tiger was found two-days after its death near Lokkere in Kundakere zone.

Bandipur houses about 150 tigers in its 13 zones covering 1,200 sq. kilometres and Prince was spotted during safaris since 11 years thus becoming the favourite to all.

Though the lifespan of tigers in the wild is said to be 10 years, Prince lived for 14 years and had established its territory spanning about 45 kilometres. It has killed four tigers in territorial fights and had recovered from serious injuries. Though the tiger had died owing to natural causes (as claimed by the forest department), its snout had been chopped off by miscreants for its canines.

Investigating the case, the forest sleuths arrested Soma, Bomma, and Pinniswamy, residents of Cheluvarayanapura, a village adjoining Bandipur Forest Area. According to Department sources, both Soma and Bomma grazed cows at Kundkere Forest Range and on Mar. 31, they found the carcass.

When the 'Prince' walked in its corridors at Bandipur

Later, the duo cut its snout and took away four of its canines and the lower bones to make some quick money. The Forest sleuths, who conducted the raids on May 11, recovered the two canines.

Later, the duo was produced before a Court and remanded to judicial custody.

Apart from Prince, Bandipur has also recorded deaths of 40 animals during 2016-17 which includes 28 elephants, 72 animals during 2013-14 which includes 60 elephants and 25 animals during 2014-15.

As far as tiger population is concerned, the department had recorded a total of 135 tigers during 2015 census, 142 during 2016 census and the population is expected to be more this year.

The department has taken around 8,000 photographs of tigers using 399 dual cameras at different locations. These photographs will be compared and thoroughly checked before coming out with the exact figures this year, said T. Heeralal, Conservator of Forests and Director, Project Tiger, speaking to Star of Mysore.

The death of Prince has actually helped forest officials to sight more tigers. Prince, which never tolerated other tigers entering into its territory has fought with many tigers and killed a few also. Now with Prince dead, other tigers are able to roam freely along with their cubs. Officials have sighted tigers at Gudde Kolachi, Aane Katte, Moorkere, Wesley Circle – the main safari area.

Criminals throw chili powder to snatch gold chain atop Chamundi Hill

Mysuru, May 14 (YDS&KS)- Despite City Police initiating several measures to prevent any untoward incident from taking place atop Chamundi Hill and also launching 'Operation Chamundi' following incidents of misconduct of young couples, chain-snatchings, assaults on devotees and tourists including foreign nationals in and around the Chamundi Hill, an incident of bike-borne miscreants snatching away a gold chain from a youth after throwing chili powder into his eyes has been reported near Nandi atop Chamundi Hill here yesterday afternoon.

The youth, who lost his gold chain to the miscreants, has been identified as 21-year-old Madan, a native of Chikkamagalur, who is pursuing his 1st year MSW course in Manasagangothri.

It is reported that Madan, who also market bags, had gone to the Hill on Saturday and was on his way back via Uttanahalli Road. When Madan reached Nandi to take the Uttanahalli Road, two bike-borne miscreants, who came from behind, threw chili powder into the eyes of Madan, snatched the gold chain weighing about 10 grams and fled from the spot.

K.R. Police said that the miscreants are yet to be identified and have suspected the handiwork of habitual offenders.

K.R. Police, have registered a case in this regard.

Operation Chamundi launched

Following the chain-snatching incident atop Chamundi Hill, K.R. ACP Mallik launched 'Operation Chamundi' along with more than 50 Police personnel and checked the vehicles proceeding towards the Hill and vehicles going from the Hill.

The incident has happened at a time when the district authorities, along with the City Police are proposing to strengthen security measures on the hillock to prevent crimes. There is a proposal to install entry/exit gates and CCTVs at all vantage points to identify movement of suspicious persons. There are four entry and exit points to the Hill and these places are unguarded and are open to public round the clock.

The Police are also planning to ban the movement of vehicles to the Hill from 10 pm onwards to prevent illegal activities. Delay in taking up security measures has helped miscreants take advantage of the situation.

Girl who had secured 73% in PUC commits suicide

Mandya, May 14 (KS)- An 18-year-old girl, who was expecting more than 90% marks to secure a medical seat, but secured 73% in PUC, ended her life by allegedly jumping in front of a moving train at Maddur in Mandya on Friday.

The deceased girl has been identified as K.S. Nikitha, the only daughter of Surendra, a farmer and a resident of Kannasandra village in Channapatana taluk.

Nikitha, who had taken PCMB subjects, as it was her dream to become a doctor, had scored 437 marks for which the results were declared on Friday.

Her father, after seeing her results, spoke to her over the phone and to tell her that she had passed with first class marks. "She had already seen the results by the time I called her. She seemed to be depressed and was in no mood to talk with me," her father said.

Mahadevaswamy, who sensed danger, called his daughter again after about an hour repeatedly, but the calls were unanswered. Her body was later found on the railway tracks at Maddur Railway Station.

Mahadevaswamy said that it was her childhood dream to become a doctor, for which she had worked hard to take up the exams and added that she was a topper in the school in SSLC by scoring 90.88 percent.
